Preamble:

In today's world, with the increasing prominence of cross-border data flows and the widespread impact of digital technologies, the role of Data Protection Authorities (DPAs) in safeguarding the fundamental rights to data protection and privacy has never been more crucial. As digital transformation accelerates and data-driven economies expand, this trend will intensify, bringing even greater challenges in regulating data flows, preventing misuse of personal data, and ensuring compliance with evolving legal frameworks.

Recognizing the necessity of effective cooperation among DPAs to uphold the fundamental rights of data subjects and ensure the consistent enforcement of data protection regulations, acknowledging the challenges posed by cross-border data flows and emerging technologies, the European Conference of DPAs reaffirm their commitment to working together. By embracing the principles of solidarity, cooperation, and mutual support, European DPAs will be better equipped to address the challenges of the digital age and uphold the fundamental rights and freedoms of individuals.

Recognizing that:

- The European Conference of DPAs is the sole forum for all European data protection authorities, to foster collaboration and to exchange best practices in order to address issues of common interest, pressing trends and emerging challenges that affect the rights to data protection and privacy.
- Enhanced cooperation among European DPAs may contribute to building trust and confidence in cross-border data transfers, and creating a supportive environment for sustainable innovation and economic growth.
- The ongoing challenges posed by the borderless nature of data processing in the digital age highlight the importance of practical exchanges and discussions on effective policies and on the implementation and enforcement of data protection related legislation.

- The nature of the issues emerging in the field emphasizes the need of promotion of common standards and principles on data protection and privacy as well as creating common approaches and best practices amongst the European DPAs.

Recalling that:

- The European Conference of Data Protection Authorities adopted the “Resolution on the Revision of the Rules and Procedures of the Conference” at the 31st Conference in Budapest, Hungary in 2023.
- The European Conference of Data Protection Authorities adopted the “Resolution on Enhanced Cooperation and Establishment of Working Groups for Data Protection Authorities” at the 32nd Conference in Riga, Latvia in 2024.
